

My Wild Child.

Living almost alone, She is a good friend to the animals in the forest. She is fast and free also messy and is always out-doors. Hope is also fearless; However She hides; hides from the grown-ups who want to take her away to where people wear neat clothes, have Showers and go to bed on time and can't play whenever they want.

Hope lives deep in the forest in a creative little tree house which She made herself, it's made out of wood with leaves as blinds and a rocky ladder. Sometimes She will sleep wherever She wants though. It took her a little while but her friend all helped her. The wolves helped her so did birds, rabbits, bear, moles and even a fly so She did have a lot of help but She loved the tree house; so so much.

Hope lives with her family but no ordinary family. Her mother is the moon, Stars and Sea her dad is the Sun, wind and lightning. her Siblings are bug, bear, mole, vixen and wolves. She loves her family and spends endless hours with them day and night.

Hope is a kind girl but to be honest She has been raised in a considerate family. Even though it is a normal family; but Hope was happy - very very happy. She has a great family.

School uniform is not for her. Hope wears torn clothes ripped shorts with patches of brown and green, also She wears a t-shirt made out of leaves, with a very big jacket.

Made of animal skin. She does not wear shoes which means her feet obviously get dirty. She has her hair in knots but it is nicely plaited. She also makes leaf crowns for her family - friends and herself, just for fun!

Hope was a brave young girl who is fearless, she is friendly to everyone but the grown-ups. She is very grateful that she is fast and free. BUT...

Hope's family are in danger... Palm oil... It's destroying their homes! Soon they will have no homes or jobs. If left it will all be gone. They shouldn't be taking palm oil just for some good it's killing their home. Hope is worrying. She will be the only one left, the only one left in the wild.

My Wild Child

Almost living on her own, she is friends with a cluster of animals. She loves the outdoors and the feeling of wind. She eats nothing except for... the tree cutters who injure the animals.

Fern lives wherever she wants; up trees and down in caves. She lives in a high tree and has used wood she has found to make her shelter - and she used leaves for the roof. It's high up in the tree so only monkeys and birds can get in. Being so high up she can see the tops of trees for miles like a green carpet spread out as far as the eye could see.

Fern's family consists of the monkey in the rainforest - all the animals in the rainforest indeed. She lives with two orangutans and a pecker - as a pet. The animals are practically her family.

Fern wears no shoes, as she can not make / get hold of any. She wears leaves sewn together to make a dress, a t-shirt and shorts (she mostly wears the dress which has banana plant leaves at the bottom). Fern has a necklace which she made out of string, stones and sticks and her hair looks like she's been dragged through a hedge backwards with a few platters in her hair.

She eats coconuts that the orangutans open for her but she loves to eat mangoes and bananas if she can get hold of them. Fern gets her water from the leaves on the tree that she lives on, she has found where most of the water drips and made a bucket by weaving dried out leaves together, if it's straight from the leaf it's her fizzy pop.

Fern is a 10-nearly 11-year old girl. She is adventurous, agile, flexible, spirited and naughty. She is also kind and likes to help the animals. Fern's favorite thing to do is to climb trees (it's how she gets her food). She isn't afraid of any thing except...

The home destroyers (the tree cutters). Once Fern caught a glimpse of them they had bright jackets on and big yellow tools. She thought they weren't any harm but she found an injured orangutan after it left. She looked after the orangutan until it made a recovery. They wouldn't hurt her family, would they? They wouldn't take their home away, would they?

My Wild child

A young boy who is almost on his own. However, he is never alone because he lives with friends who are animals. He loves to be outdoors and free. Theo is a young boy who is in gear of grown-ups because they want him to go to school.

Theo lives wherever he wishes. Nature welcomes him. At the foot of the Mossy Mountain, he stands on a hard stone, which is taller than him, in front of his hut.

Theo wears ripped t-shirts. He wears shorts made out of leaves: which were handmade. He has dirt on his skin, and on his clothes. He made a nice stone necklace. He has windswept hair.

Theo is crazy, fast, noisy, determined and free. But My wild child is fearless of grown-ups. They want to catch the wild boy because they want him to go to school.

To go to school and listened to the rules and tell him what good to eat. They want him to be "normal" child. They want him to take his wilderness away do they? Should they take his wilderness away?

My Wild Child

Icy is a young boy who is adventurous and apprehensive. But when he was younger he got abandoned in the Arctic.

My Wild Child

A boy who is one nature and lives alone in the woods. He's hiding from the grown-ups because they are trying to take his freedom away.

James lives in a treehouse, with a washing line hanging from the roof to another tree. He climbs up the trees with his monkey goat and then slides back down later. Every night, he stands on the roof of his house and looks out at the sunset. His companion, a wolf, lives in a hut which is under the tree and he says "goodnight" every evening and gives her a kiss.

His family is made up of: a grizzly bear, a racoon and a squirrel. James sometimes slumbers on the bear's back, when it's not raining. He scurries with his siblings day in and day out.

James wears shorts made out of leaves which he made by sticking the leaves to soap and then together. He doesn't wear any shoes (which is how he got his monkey goat). His clothes make him camouflaged, so when the grown-ups come he can hide. He has a necklace made out of vines and twigs. His hair is blonde and shaggy and has dirt all over (so you could call it brown).

James is adventurous and brave. He's fast and dirty because he plays a lot with the animals. He is also crazy.

BUT James doesn't like the grown-ups because they are going to take him away and tame him. Would they really take the last wild child? He also doesn't like technology because the grown-ups are thinking of chopping down the trees and building roads.

M. J. Wild Child

This wild child is amicable to all animals and he loves the feeling of ~~being~~ being outdoors beyond the life of a normal childhood. He goes much apart from adult human life.

MY WILD CHILD

Living almost on her own, she is friends with a menagerie of wild animals and she loves the sense of being out-doors, beyond the constraints of a normal childhood. Jess is a young girl who fears nothing only the poachers and their gun shots.

She lives where other people don't, where only she lives nobody goes. Only the animals of the forest go there. At a foot of a mountain there lies a stone hut, she loves running with the rabbits and swimming with the fish.

My Wild Child

This is a girl who lives almost on her own, her only family and friends are a variety of loving animals and insects, that are all different shape and sizes. The girl's name is Lucinda Wilings but her nickname is Lucy Willwill and she adores wildlife and anything to do with the outdoors. She made a comfortable wildhouse in the middle of the woods. Her hut has a washing-line made by a tree and a long thin branch stick out of the tree. She made the house by putting the entrance hut next to a colossal rock which juts out because her real house is underneath the rock, so she is protected.

Lucy has a mum and a dad like everyone else would have, but her parents are animals - a bear and a wolf. Lucy also has a younger sister who is a beautiful butterfly and an older brother who is a Speedy rabbit.

Lucinda is a loving and caring girl, but she is dressed in ripped and torn cloths, and she also doesn't wear any shoes. She has got really messy and unbrushed hair however she has plaits in. Her cloths are made out of leaves and twigs. Lucy will upsettingly have to eat anything she finds even if she doesn't like it (luckily she isn't fussy).

Lucy has two fears - grown-ups and soap. These are her fears because: grown-ups might take her into a school and a zoo, she would be put to bed at the wrong time or need to follow a whole set of strict rules. How could they catch or tame her? Would it be possible?

On the whole she is a brave, helpful, strong and adventurous child.
